FOREWORD

The Historical Catalogue of Brown University for 1924 is published in two volumes, of which this book is volume one. The second volume covers the records of the Women's College only. In addition, a limited number of the two volumes have been bound together for those who wish a complete edition.

Certain other innovations appear in the 1924 Historical Catalogue. Graduates and non-graduates have been combined in Class Lists under one alphabetical order. Graduates may be distinguished from non-graduates by the Brown degrees following their names. All Bachelor's degrees are from Brown unless otherwise indicated. Advanced and honorary degrees received by graduates prior to 1914 are merely listed, while those awarded since that time are recorded with the source and date of each. Directly following the graduates and non-graduates are given the special students who entered college with them. It is believed that this emphasis on the social unity of the class will be generally welcomed.

The records in this book begin with the class of 1855, the oldest class in which there is a living Brown man. In the case of all living alumni, the name, academic degrees, fraternities (honorary and academic), the occupation and the address are given. In the case of deceased alumni only the name, degrees and dates of birth and death are set down. In order that the complete record may be continued, however, the present catalogue gives in its general index the names and classes of all Brown men, as well as the names of all graduate students and recipients of honorary degrees, since the founding of the College.

Every Brown man whose address is known at the Alumni office has twice been asked for information. The returned questionnaires contain complete data and are on file in the office of the Associated Alumni, Brown University. This office will be glad to supply further facts concerning particular alumni.

The records published in the 1924 Historical Catalogue represent the best information on hand May 15, 1924. Omissions or incorrect information indicate, in nearly every case, that the person concerned has failed to respond to repeated inquiries from the University.

No publication giving information regarding over eight thousand individuals can pretend to complete correctness. No effort has been spared, however, in maintaining in the 1924 Historical Catalogue the high standard of preceding editions, and the Editor hopes that it may find a useful and a treasured place in the libraries of many Brown men.
